

- 30 The rate of reaction between peroxodisulfate(VI) and iodide ions is increased by the presence of small concentrations of $\text{Fe}^{2+}(\text{aq})$.

Which property of iron allows it to act as a homogeneous catalyst?

- A partially filled d subshell
- B variable oxidation states
- C low activation energy
- D high charge density