

20 Which statement describes an endothermic reaction between two aqueous solutions?

- A Heat energy is given out and the solution temperature rises.
- B The energy needed for bond breaking is less than the energy released from bond formation.
- C ΔH is negative as the products have less energy stored in the chemical bonds than the reactants.
- D ΔH is positive as the products have more energy stored in the bonds than the reactants.