

29 Copper is a typical transition element and calcium is an s-block element.

Which property is greater for calcium than for copper?

- A density
- B melting point
- C reducing power
- D electrical conductivity