

- 19 G, H and J are three different organic compounds. H and G can react together to form an ester. J can also react with G to form an ester but much less readily than H. When G is added into water, white fumes are observed.

Which of the following could be J?

- A butan-1-ol
- B butan-2-ol
- C phenol
- D phenylamine